A FEW POLITICAL POINTS.

The political future of the Hawaiian Islands offers many suggestive points. First, the currency question will lead all others and will demand the closest scrutiny. The opium question is almost bound to take a prominent place. The whiskey license business will commence and end with the campaign. The Government will be upon one side; the people will be upon the other. Political parties do not put as much figure in Hawaii as they do in the United States. The reason is very plain, viz: the form of Government here, the temper of the people and the perquisites of office differ widely from those of a Republic. The best classes of citizens here will stand for a moral, temperance Administration. Good first-class Government will be demanded and no other will be accepted. The working of the political world in Hawaii has mainly been one of abuse and detraction. In the coming political fight it is hoped that there will be less abuse and more argument used than heretofore. It is not our place to call names and use arguments which in the end may be proved false. The political culture of these Islands will not justify abuse, and especially personal detraction. Every end cuts in a political campaign; the end which cuts most is the one which indorses a let-alone policy. Suppose the Government wishes to bring Chinamen here? Suppose they are forced to? The very men who are advocating the expulsion of mongolians from Hawaii are the men who are forced under the working of this Government's laws to step into the street and employ cheap labor. Suppose you cry down any individual in the Kingdom, it does not put money into the pocket of the artisan. Suppose you detract the office holder, you do not put money into the artisan's pocket? What the Hawaiian public wants—what the laboring people of these Islands want—is some security from an over-charge in exchange. The banking houses of this Kingdom are more than responsible for the sins which have been alleged against some of the Government contractors. Who would not have done the same thing that Messrs. Spreckels & Co. have done in regard to the silver question. Hawaiian silver has proved a curse which the Government is to blame for its introduction—not Mr. Claus Spreckels. Any banking house in Honolulu would have jumped at the offer made Mr. Spreckels. We do not indorse Mr. Spreckels, we only refuse to condemn a man without giving both sides. Political points in the Hawaiian Islands point toward two sides in both parties. We consider the opposition party as it is at present represented, and the Government party as it has been represented, as both wrong in the main; that is to say, we do not consider either the leaders of the opposition or the Government as the representation of the laboring classes which the Press intends to uphold and represent.

THE CHINESE QUESTION IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The following article from the S. F. Call of the 30th ult., shows the attitude in that city of the Chinese in the manufacturing trade, and may prove of interest to Island readers.

The present indications are that white and Chinese labor will be closely antagonized in the pending contest for the cigar manufacturing business. White men and Chinese will not be employed in the same factories. The Chinese have such control of the trade that they claim that they can control white manufacturers who employ both kinds of labor. The Chinese, in this case, have forced the issue. It is not whites who have refused to work with Chinese, but Chinese who have refused to work with whites. The Chinese companies have declared the law, and must abide by it. But while it may be in the power of the Chinese to compel those white manufacturers who employ Chinese labor to discharge their white workmen, it is certainly not in their power to prevent a white manufacturer from conducting his business with white workmen. White men make cigars in New York and sell them in San Francisco in competition with Chinese cigars. Why, then, may not the same workmen make cigars in San Francisco with equal advantage in the way of sale? The action of the Chinese in demanding the discharge of the white workmen in the single cigar factory in which whites were largely employed should arouse public attention to the danger which threatens our industries. The Chinese are not content to share an industry, but demand the whole of it. The stand they have taken in the cigar business will also be taken in other trades when they think themselves strong enough to succeed. Boot and shoe manufacturers may be requested to discharge their white employees. The manufacturers of clothing who have employed girls to do portions of their work may soon be compelled to let their girls go. The cigar-makers who employ Chinese are very sorry that they cannot employ a white workman at the wages they pay Chinese, but they say they submit to the inevitable. So will our clothing manufacturers feel badly over the necessity of sending their white girls adrift, but they will say they accept it as a business necessity. It is quite time for the white people of this city and State to make a stand in their own defence. They have worked side by side with Chinese until the latter have gained strength to declare for all or nothing. The sooner we give the coolies to understand that it is nothing the better. We yet have power to recover the trade that has passed into Chinese hands. If the Chinese are not willing to live and let live, we will see to it that the whites are the ones to live. If there is, indeed, an irrepressible conflict between the two races, let us determine that the fittest shall survive. Americans, with their usual magnanimity, have given the Chinese a chance. We have opposed their coming in large numbers, but we have thrown no obstacle in the way of their making money while here. They contend with whites openly in the labor market, and yet shirk many of the burdens whites take upon themselves. They are meek and conciliatory while in weakness, but arrogant and unyielding in power. The strike of the Chinese shows the race in their true light. It has opened up a clearer view of the Chinese question as it exists on the Pacific Coast than we have had before. It is, in short, a notice to the white residents to do the work of a community are the basis of its being. If whites cannot work on the Pacific Coast, they will seek other places where they are not ruled out on account of color. The white people of this coast, property-owners as well as laborers, must combine to protect their threatened industries. We cannot afford to lose one industry after another, as the Chinese find themselves in positions to demand the whole of it.

WARD'S FELONIES.

Smallness of Ward's Character—List of His Beneficiaries—Restitution Demanded.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—At the District Attorney's office it is thought Ward will get the maximum sentence of ten years, which in reality is only seven, allowing three years off for commutation. These seven years may be made very comfortable with the use of money by his friends and accomplices. Fish's hard labor at Auburn consists in keeping the prison chaplain's register. The District Attorney contemplates trying Ward on the remaining half-dozen indictments. Among the facts which leaked out concerning private dealings with the Grants is the following: When the General and Col. Fred were directors in some railway companies, it was their habit to drop the gold pieces, which it is the custom of Wall-street corporations to pay each director for attendance, into a Japanese vase on the mantel for Mrs. Grant's benefit. Over $5000 had been thus accumulated when one evening Ward, who had been one of the card-players in an adjoining room, came to Mrs. Grant and prevailed on her to invest the amount in a good thing. He got it, leaving the house with the money in his pocket, which was lost with the remainder of Grant's fortune. It is also stated on equally good authority that Ward induced Mrs. Grant to lend him $30,000, raised by Philadelphia friends to pay off the mortgage on Gen. Grant's New York house, promising to invest it in Tonawanda banks, instead of doing which he put the money into his pocket, bought two pictures next day for $3,000, and spent the rest upon his house at Stamford. If he were tried for this, Mrs. Grant would have to testify, and that the District Attorney wished to spare her the pain of doing.

WARD'S BENEFICIARIES.

The Star this morning begins the publication of the names of Ward's beneficiaries, giving the list of suits already begun by Julien O. Davis as Receiver. The list comprises Washington, D. C., J. W. Spencer, Charles H. Mallory, Henry R. Mallory, Charles Mallory, Elisha Snider, J. F. Bryon H. Smith, Amos H. Scoville, Irving Fish, William H. Bingham, Mercantile Trust Company, Benjamin Fish, William W. Smith of Mystic River, National Bank of Connecticut, Second National Bank of New Haven, Lincoln National Bank of New York and Farmer's and Merchant's National Bank of Hartford, Conn. The Star repeats the demand that the participants in Ward's felonious gains make restitution, and says some have already done so. "We regret that the individuals and institutions above named should have chosen to resist the demands made upon them. The names given do not exhaust the list. Let no others wait to be sued.—Special to the Bulletin.

CAMOMILE TO KILL THE SCALE.—The Florida orange has been evolved from the wild or better orange. In its early culture the locus Heperandum, a small brown bug common to greenhouses, was the worst enemy of the grower. About twenty-eight years ago it attacked and spread over entire plantations and completely destroyed the trees. It was then discovered in England that a few applications of camomile in bunches or in the form of a wash was a safe and sure preventive against the pest.—N. Y. World.
